

JOHN KOHNKE SEMINAR - 11th February, 2012

FEEDING THE PERFORMANCE HORSE

This Seminar was well attended by not only carriage driving enthusiasts, but also representatives from a variety of horse bodies.

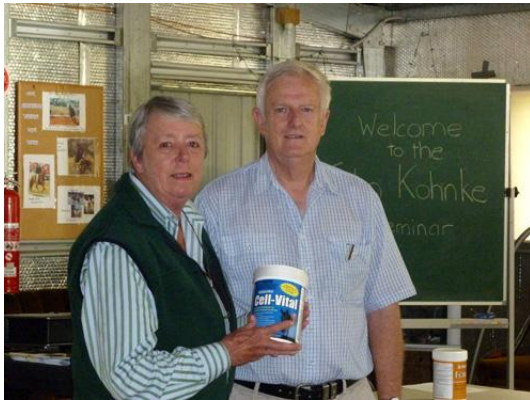

Topics covered included worming, grazing, feeding of concentrates or hard feed, and all other various types of feeds as well as the different types of hay which are available. In addition, the vitamin and mineral requirements of all types of horses, relative to the type of work they are being asked to perform was discussed in great detail.

The prevention and treatment of such conditions as Laminitis, Diabetes and other common horse ailments was also talked about at length.

Everyone was kept enthralled by John's vast knowledge on many topics, together with his quick wit. His expertise extends not only to all horse related issues, but also to Donkeys, Greyhounds and many other fields of study. His knowledge is sought after world-wide on many topics and he often travels abroad to deliver Lectures and Papers on all manner of animal welfare issues.

He has written numerous books on all of the above-mentioned topics as well as many others.

John very kindly provided a number of his products as lucky door prizes which were gratefully received.
